Easter Bunny scheduled to visit CNET headquarters

PENSACOLA, Fla. - It has been heard around the Chief of Naval Education and Training (CNET) hallways that one, Pete R. Cottontail, vice chief of Long Vacations and Holidays, is scheduled to arrive for the annual Easter Eggs hunt scheduled Thursday, April 12, from 10 until 11:30 a.m. After visiting with the "older kids", Cottontail will hop on down to the CNET courtyard and meet with more than 50 children just waiting to see what types of surprises are in store for them.

Of course, with all that hard work running around and hiding more than 400 eggs, Cottontail hopes the children don't exhaust themselves searching for the hidden eggs. Not to worry, as CNET staff members are scheduled to provide orange juice, punch and cookies.

Media representatives are invited and encouraged to cover this adventurous egg hunt and holiday festivity. Media interested covering this event need to contact Cmdr. Anthony Cooper, CNET Public Affairs Officer, at 850.452.4858, or JO2 Eileen M. N. Kelly, CNET staff journalist at 850.452.9110.
